DUAL NATIONALITY Nationals of another country cannot be British nationals who are also Nationals of another country. Representatives against the authorities of that country. If, under the law of that country, they are liable for any obligation (such as military service), the fact that they are British nationals does not exempt them from it. A person having some connection with a Commonwealth or foreign country (eg by birth, descent through either parent, by marriage or by residence) may be a national of that country, in addition to being a British national. Acquisition of British nationality or citizenship by a foreigner does not involve the loss of nationality of origin.

This passport remains the property of Her Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom and may be withdrawn at any time. It should not be tampered with or passed to an unauthorised person. Any case of loss or destruction should be immediately reported to the local police and to the nearest British passport issuing authority (eg Office of Identity and Passport Services, British Consulate, British Embassy or British High Commission); only after exhaustive enquiries can a replacement be issued in such circumstances. The passport of a deceased person should be submitted for cancellation to the nearest such passport authority; it will be returned on request.

3. IMMIGRATION AND VISA REQUIREMENTS

The possession of a passport does not exempt the holder from compliance with any immigration regulations in force in any territory or from the necessity of obtaining a visa or permit where required. It should be noted in this connection that the majority of British territories overseas have immigration restrictions applicable to British nationals as well as aliens.

OVERSEAS

4 REGISTRATION OVERSEAS
British nationals resident overseas who are entitled to the protection of the United Kingdom authorities should contact the nearest British Consulate or Embassy or High Commission. Failure to make arrangements for registration of their names and addresses, or to do so may, in an emergency result in difficulty or delay in according them assistance and protection.
